Village's Retail Sales Moving For New Record

Retail sales in Palm Springs are continuing an upward climb that may show the city's over-the-counter trade to a record high this year.

City Finance Director Shelby Langford today reported that September tax receipts for the city were $7,493, bringing the total tax collections for the first three months of fiscal 1959 to $69,578.

Tax receipts for the same period last year hit $66,345, but Langford pointed out that tax receipts collected by the state and returned here after 90 days reflect only retail sales within the city limits.

Sales and use tax receipts for September of last year were $6,878.

Planners Approve Golf Driving Range, Center

Palm Springs Planning Commission yesterday put the stamp of approval on a golf driving range and recreation center to be located on Ramon Road west of Sunrise Way, and in an unprecedented action approved the lighting of the golf range for night play.

On an application by Eddie Meyerson, the commission set up certain standards of lighting and planting, in its approval.

The application asked for the construction of the golf driving range with lights, a refreshment shop, pitch and putt course, and an obstacle putting course. The property to be developed is 330 feet by 1,320 feet.

POLICE, RADAR COMBINE FOR CHRISMTAS 'GIVING'

The Palm Springs Police Department is getting ready for Christmas and expects to do an added amount of yuletide "giving" starting today.

"We now have every car in the department adapted for our radar unit," said Sergeant Robert Young. "It is on the streets starting today and it will be used for citing."

THE SERGEANT said that the department intends to use the radar about half of the time for "surveying speed conditions on roads here" and citations will not be issued while it is so engaged.

The other half of the time, the electronic device will be seeking out individual speeders for ticketing purposes.

THE TRAFFIC officer indicated that road surveying will have to wait until after the holidays so that the radar can be used throughout that period for enforcement purposes.

"We're going to use it full time during the holiday," he said, demonstrating that Village police have really caught the spirit of giving.

Canadian Storm Front Moves Into Great Lakes

United Press International A series of small storms systems raced across the Great Lakes Thursday, tumbling temperatures and spreading snow flurries into the Northeast.

A warming trend which earlier snapped a record early December cold wave in the nation's interior, pushed into the Southeast and mid-Atlantic states Wednesday, lifting readings well above freezing.

THE NEW WINTERY blasts sweeping out of Canada were not expected to be as severe or prolonged as the cold wave which hit the eastern two-thirds of the country Dec. 6.

Overnight readings skidded in the Southeastern Great Lakes region and the Central and Southern Plains as a disturbance moved across the lakes. Behind the storm track, warmer weather was recorded from the Northern Rockies to the Northwest Great Lakes.

SNOW FLURRIES occurred during the night in the Northeast and the Northern Great Lakes, while light rain or freezing rain extended into Iowa.

The cold Wednesday was blamed for at least 10 more fire deaths in the South, raising to at least 57 the number of persons killed in fires in nine Southeastern states since the start of the cold snap over the South last week.

In the Far West, rain continued from Northwest Oregon into Western Washington, while fair, warm weather persisted over the Great Basin, producing high forest fire danger in Southern California.

Sneak Attack Parley Ends In Stalemate

East-West Halt Geneva Meet for 'Indefinite Recess'

GENEVA (UPI)—The East and West abandoned indefinitely today their fruitless attempt to set up a global warning system to prevent sneak attacks.

Delegates to the 10-nation Surprise Attack Conference held a four-hour meeting and then adjourned for an indefinite recess.

WHILE THE delegates expressed hope that the break would be temporary, there appeared little prospect the talks would be reconvened, at least in the near future. Both sides have refused to budge from their conflicting views on what the conference should discuss.

The delegations agreed in the final session, however, to report to their governments on the substance of the six-week talks. Conference sources said there was general agreement to attempt, through diplomatic channels, to find a frame of reference that would make resumption of the talks worthwhile.

SOVIET FIRST Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, head of the eastern delegation, later accused the West of using the conference mainly to pry into Soviet military secrets.

Kuznetsov told a news conference the West was trying to step up the arms race and gain a military advantage over the Communist nations through a policy of strength. For such a policy, he said, "probably the only end is complete catastrophe."

A joint conference communiqué merely listed the dates of the meetings, the participants, the documents and more important statements submitted. It said the exchange of views had been "helpful in clarifying for each side the view of the other."

Red Hats Given 20 New Princes

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — New princes of the Roman Catholic Church took the cardinal's oath amid the splendor of ancient ceremony today, promising to support Pope John XXIII even "to the point of shedding his blood."

Thousands of faithful massed in the vast Basilica of St. Peter to watch the Pontiff place broad-brimmed and tasseled red hats on the heads of 20 new cardinals as symbols of their office.

Three other new church princes were receiving their red hats from the Catholic chiefs of state of the nations in which they serve.

'The Small World' Balloon Breaks 45-Year Record

SANTA CRUZ, Canary Islands (UPI) — The balloon "The Small World" drifted out of radio range today on its transatlantic voyage that already has smashed an endurance record set 45 years ago.

Radio messages from the balloon last were received here Tuesday, but radio experts said there was no fear the balloon was down in the Atlantic.

They said the balloon either floated out of range of local receivers or lacked the power to make itself heard.

The balloon left here Dec. 12 and passed its 119th hour in the air 4 p.m. p.s.t. Wednesday. The previous balloon endurance record was 87 hours set by J. Kaulen of Germany on a flight that went from Dec. 13 to 17, 1913.

The last reports from the balloon placed it at least 1,300 miles from here and still on course heading toward Central America.

Hammarkjold Goes to Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) Secretary-general Dag Hammarkjold leaves today on a new trouble-shooting mission to the Middle East.

Monday Issues of Desert Sun Due Dec. 22, 29

A couple of present-day collectors items—Monday issues of The Desert Sun—will be rolling off the presses on Dec. 22 and 29.

They'll carry the usual thorough coverage of Palm Springs and the desert area and will be, in all respects, like every other issue of the desert empire's daily newspaper.

The reason for the sudden rash of Monday papers is the Christmas and New Year's holidays, which will be observed by Sun employees along with the rest of the community. No papers will be published on Dec. 25 and Jan. 1, but following the holidays, The Desert Sun will resume its regular Tuesday through Saturday publication.

Ad deadlines for each of the Monday publications—which will give advertisers a last-minute chance to call attention to Christmas or New Year's activities—have been set for 5 p.m., the preceding Friday, for display copy, and 11 a.m., the preceding Saturday, for classified.

15 Nations Seek 'Just' Settlement

Reply to Soviets Will Reaffirm 'Determination'

PARIS (UPI) — The United States and its 14 NATO allies tonight reaffirmed their determination not to yield to Soviet threats against Berlin.

The western resolution to stand firm came in a communique released at the conclusion of the three-day meeting of the NATO Council of Ministers.

THE COMMUNIQUE said the council gave first place to the question of Berlin during its comprehensive study of the international situation.

"The member countries made clear their resolution not to yield to threats," the communique said.

It said a solution of the German question linked with European security arrangements and an agreement on controlled disarmament are essential. It added, the NATO governments will continue to seek a just settlement of these problems.

THE COMMUNIQUE said the council will continue to follow the question of Berlin with "close attention and will shortly discuss the replies to be sent to the Soviet notes of Nov. 27."

The Soviet notes had demanded the end to four-power control of Berlin and conversion of West Berlin into a "free and demilitarized city."

The communique said the ministers review of the international situation covered a wide range of problems.

"SPECIAL ATTENTION was given to the efforts of the Communist bloc to weaken the positions of the Free World in different ways, it said.

The communique also said the NATO defense strategy "continues to be based on the existence of effective shield forces and on the manifest will to use nuclear retaliatory forces to repel aggression."

At the closing session, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred with Netherlands Foreign Minister Joseph Luns on a Benelux plan to merge NATO air forces and possibly navies to meet the threat of Soviet aggression.

Weather Aids Firefighters In Southland

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI)—Favorable weather conditions today came to the aid of 2,000 weary firefighters fighting a gigantic brush fire in Southern California.

Firemen said complete control of the blaze which has blackened 60,000 acres including parts of the sprawling Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base was possible by at least Friday if low winds and high humidity continue.

Six Villagers to Play Aides to Santa Claus In Christmas Day Visit to Border City 'Waifs'

A half a dozen Villagers, headed by Eve Russell, are going to spend Christmas south of the border as aides to Santa Claus, to give assistance to a husband and wife who are doing a wonderful work with practically nothing, for homeless waifs of the border cities.

Miss Russell, on a recent trip below the border, heard the remarkable story of a day laborer and his wife who were giving shelter and food to homeless and abandoned children from Tijuana to Mexicali along the border and south beyond Ensenada, and investigated.

SHE LEARNED that this couple, the Bringas, married in the United States and for some time residents of this country, had in three years picked up 36 homeless waifs off the streets and in the countryside around the border cities and given them a home.

When they first moved into Mexico and started their work they had but a small house. But Senora Bringas, full of pity for the hungry, bedraggled abandoned children, shared it with them.

AT FIRST THEY had no stove, no utensils and just his wages as a laborer. But they persisted. When there were eight waifs, besides their own two children in the home, the wife made her first and probably only appeal for help.

She called on Baja California governor Senor Brualio Maldonado who had been born in the same town she had, San Jose del Cabo, B.C., and told him her story.

HE AND HIS WIFE were impressed and he obtained for her a brothel which had been condemned by the government.

It is situated in a little valley between rolling hills on the Tijuana - Rosarito highway.

With no outside help the couple put it in shape, acquiring a two-burner stove to replace the hole in the ground with a grate over it which they had been using.

IN THE MEANTIME, Senora Bringas found more pitiful waifs which she brought into the home. Now there are 36.

"The Lord will provide," she said when food and other essentials of life ran low.

"And he did," she added simply in telling her story to Miss Russell.

IT IS NOT ONLY a roof and simple food they are providing for the abandoned children.

"A minister comes from Tijuana every Sunday to aid in their religious education, a teacher who hears of the work gives several hours a week to conduct classes, the grounds of the old resort are now a poultry farm where the youngsters can learn farming," Miss Russell said.

THE VILLAGER who visited the place called La Casa de la Esperanza (The House of Hope) said it was spotlessly clean, the former homeless youngsters shining in their make-shift clothing and the best-mannered children she had ever seen.

"But they do need everything—bedding, furniture, old clothing, utensils, anything."

"They are not begging for it for as Senora Bringas says: 'God will provide.'"

MISS RUSSELL, on her return to the Village, told some of her friends of the remarkable work being done at the House of Hope and they decided to help.

So on Christmas Day they are going to La Casa de la Esperanza with a truck with supplies for this man and woman who are doing this labor of love.

And any who want to aid can do so by calling Miss Russell at FA 5-2259.

Chamber Urges Students to Shop in Village

A Chamber of Commerce campaign urging Villagers to shop in Palm Springs, yesterday singled out students at Palm Springs High School, urging the teen agers to patronize merchants here "rather than making their purchases out of town."

A motion by Chamber member Edgar McCoubrey asked that the Chamber's board of directors "request the high school student body to patronize local merchants." The motion was seconded by Frank Allen and drew unanimous approval of the Chamber.

CHAMBER MANAGER Jim my Cooper said that he has dispatched a letter to District Supt. Dwight Twist relaying the request.

Cooper's letter said that opportunities for high school students in local businesses would become abundant only if the students — as well as their parents and all Villagers — "patronize local businesses and services."

"FOR TOO MANY years," the letter lamented, "we have seen migration of our graduating students to other communities for employment, when we know that, if opportunity existed, they would much prefer to remain in their home community."

The Chamber's "Shop in Palm Springs" campaign is part of a stepped-up drive conducted jointly by the Chamber and the Retail Merchants Assn.

Slayer of Model at Thousand Palms Sentenced to Death

Confessed sex-slayer Harry Glatman, who admitted strangling a Hollywood model near Thousand Palms in August of 1957, yesterday was sentenced to the gas chamber for the rape-murders of two other women in San Diego County.

San Diego Superior Judge John A. Hewicker ended a whirlwind, three-day trial, in which Glatman had offered no defense, by sentencing the 30-year-old Los Angeles television repairman to die in San Quentin's gas chamber.

Glatman had told officers that his Thousand Palms victim 19-year-old Judith Dull, a Hollywood model, died the same way as his other two victims. He said he lured her to the desert to pose for photographs in the nude and after taking pictures he attacked her and strangled her.

The two other victims were Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, a Sun Valley housewife, and Ruth Ann Mercado, 24, a Los Angeles model.

Glatman was captured by California Highway Patrol officers in Santa Ana who noticed Glatman struggling with his intended fourth victim, pretty Lorraine Vigil, 27, another Los Angeles model.

The confessed killer had demanded a quick trial "so I can die and get it over with." Yesterday Judge Hewicker granted his wish.

Board Approves Setbacks for Jack Marich

The Board of Supervisors approved front and side-yard setbacks requested by Jack Marich of Cathedral City on his property at 70-119 Wonder Palms Road after he assured them this week that he only wants to put up a temporary storage room for furnishings he is moving from Los Angeles and for which he has insufficient room in his house.

"I'll be glad to move it back or tear it down whenever the county wants to widen the street," declared Marich.

Marich requested that the 20-foot front yard setback be reduced to eight feet, and the five foot side yard setback be reduced to 3.5 feet. It was agreed that the variance will stipulate that at no time is a permanent structure to be put up in the reduced setback area.

A recent survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture found that rural residents use more pickles than city dwellers do.

TREES TOO HIGH FOR SIZE, SO THEFT TRIED

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Richard A. Shaefer, 21, arrested along with Frank R. Olmstead, 18, as they loaded a white Christmas tree into the trunk of their car, offered this explanation to police:

"I wanted that tree for my apartment and the price was too high."

Price of the 3½-foot tree was $7.

WARETOWN, N.J. (UPI) — An architect digging a foundation for a new home here found a shark's tooth about 100 to 150 million years old — and uranium.

When Russel J. Horner, 47-year-old architect and construction engineer of Liberty Harbor, found the fossilized tooth, along with clam and oyster shells, also fossilized, he sent them to the archeology department at Rutgers University.

He also sent along a specimen of rock to the American Smelting and Refining Co. at Perth Amboy for analysis.

It turned out to be uranium and the assay report indicated a rich deposit — the location of which Horner is now keeping secret.

California leads the U.S. in the number of cities served by commercial airlines. Texas comes next and then Nebraska.

Marines Plan Yule Contests

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Marine units based here will compete with one another on Dec. 22-23 when Christmas decorations in various areas are judged against each other.

The Marines will fix up yule scenes which will be judged on appropriateness, overall attractiveness, ingenuity and economy of fabrication, location and proportion.

Even the mess halls will get in on the act, although they will not be competing with the decorations. The cooks will present an array of Christmas - trimmed goodies for the mess tables.

All of the activities will officially get under way when the huge Christmas tree located on the Upper Parade Field is lighted at 6 p.m. Wednesday. The public will be admitted for the Christmas singing and other activities that will start the Marines on their competitive designs.

A New Generation

TEL-AVIV, Israel—Something pretty wonderful, even enviable, is happening to Israeli literature. No exact analogy for America should be cited, but let us approximate.

Suppose that a talented school of creative young writers perceived with sorrow that the American star was sinking toward tragic eclipse. Further, suppose that these writers, in a surge of productive passion, fathered a renaissance that was stylistically, linguistically, and emotionally related to historical documents and persons that had given us greatness in the first place.

I DO NOT MEAN cheap costume fiction where Revolutionary maidens in low-cut dresses keep trysts with booted heroes. Nor do I mean "Westerns." But suppose, once more, that we had writers to recapture the ancient Anglo-American genius which combined to provide for liberty under law, individualism with social restraint, rights of protest, and trial by jury of peers whether churls or euls. Something of this sort, translated back into Israel terms, has happened to the Jewish nation. The old Hebrew language is the vehicle of a revitalized literature which is being written by men, from their 20's to 60's, who shared experiences of sorrow, danger, excitement.

ONE MAN ESCAPED from persecution in Russia 30 years ago. Another lived through the Nazi extermination camps. Several others—more typical today—were outlaws during the British mandate, desert fighters against the Arabs, members of the frontier farm collectives.

Among the Hebrew-language books available in English translation (1956) is the novel, "Muri Said" by Haim Hazaz, who is said to be a founding father (it would be risky to say "the") of the new nationalist literature. Hazaz went back to the Yemenites (a tribe sometimes called the "original Jews") somewhat as an American seeker might try for truth by writing about the distant ancestors of the passengers of the Winthrop fleet.

A YOUNGER novelist, Moshe Shamir, has done the English-translated "King of Flesh and Blood" (1957), which concerns the Roman era in Palestine. The author fought in the short but savage War of Liberation (1948). One of his plays, "He Went in the Fields," which is about pre-State Israel, was produced with considerable acclaim at the International Drama Festival in Paris (1956).

Another well-received American-published novel, "House of Dolls" (1955), has appeared under the pen name of K.Zetzel, who is an escapee of Nazism, still in his 30's. It is a tale of concentration camp suffering by a group of Jewish girls.

THE COMMON denominator in these and many other new Hebrew-language books is racial, religious and traditional. In that sense, they are reactionary and conservative, the opposite of rebellious and progressive. Some comparison can be made with the Irish Republicans who not only broke off from English rule after World War I but also from the English tongue.

Contrasts rather than comparisons arise when we look for modern American parallels. Our Lost Generation which followed the holocaust of World War I gave us sorrowing rebels—Hemingway, Dos Passos and others. The combat veterans of World War II have gloried in individual problems under stressful conditions, and in promiscuous love-making. But we have not come up with anything approaching a school of nationalism that communicates the meaning and future of Americanism, its bloodlines, its creeds, its inmost desires.

FOR THESE REASONS it has seemed to me that the Israeli experience, for all its past agony and uncertainty to come, is something to be envied. Americans may have reason to wish that they had something similar, or that they had reacted spiritually and affirmatively, rather than the reverse, to their own testings and misfortunes. Perhaps our luxurious materialism has smothered our finer reactions. We might do better when life confronts us, as it soon may, with difficulties and challenges which the Israeli have faced and still face.

Their new literature carries a running series of themes: the ingathering of their dispersed people; the constant and deadly conflict with the encompassing Arab world; the return to the land and the grim but exhilarating struggle with and against Nature; the ancient folklore which deals in truths that never fade.

IT NEEDS TO BE said that the new literature is being created in a language that only a small fraction of these two million Israeli can easily read and appreciate. Yet I have found that something close to 1,200 books are annually published by as many as 60 indigenous publishers.

Production costs are at least as high as in the United States. The average - sized book would retail at hardly less than the equivalent of $3.50, which is a far higher percentage of weekly income here than at home. A book that sells 5,000 copies here is a success; 10,000 copies amounts to a runaway best-seller.

The profit motive in writing and publishing is present but very slight. This, perhaps, explains a lot.—Holmes Alexander.

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

We haven't the snow,
But climate, and sand,
So we, too can sing
Winter Wonderland.

Have been listening to the radio all about the snow, the icicles, the skating and so on, which is summed up as "Winter Wonderland."

Can't see what they have on us. Anyway, there are a lot of refugees from that other Winter Wonderland here to enjoy ours.

EVERYTIME I HEAR that "ho-ho-ho" and "he-he-he" that a replacement for Santa Claus, I recall an interesting conversation with a gentleman who specializes in Santa Claus.

He sat next to me on the race train coming up from Del Mar a year ago and the conversation started when he asked me how I had done.

After he got through shaking his head sadly, too, he brightened up. "Well, anyway, my big time of the year is here. I'll get well in the next three months." (This was in September.)

HE WENT ON to explain that his business was supplying Santa Claus to department stores, parties and so on.

He hires unemployed older men (65 and up), puts them through a thorough schooling on how to act, outfits them with Santa Claus suits, pillows and all (for those who need them), and then acts as an agent to place them in gainful employment as Saint Nicks.

ONE THING, I remember, he said about his school.

"Our three strictest rules are that they must not say Ho Ho Ho and slap their pillows. Secondly, they can't take a kid on their lap and third, they've got to stay far apart when they have their Santa outfits on," he said. "Dads would have a tough time explaining to their kids if the latter saw two Santas in the same room."

DOING A LITTLE research work, I find that Santa Claus has changed a lot over the years. And Americans did the changing.

The original version of Saint Nick in Europe was of a tall, gaunt, angular man riding a bony grey mare. According to Donald Ludgin, editor of the Holiday articles in World Book Encyclopedia, the early English settlers in the colonies, however, adopted the Dutch version of St. Nicholas, a bit more stout and a lot jollier.

THEIR CHILDREN had trouble pronouncing Saint Nicholas and shortened it to Santa Claus which finally evolved into Santa Claus.

And he had put on more weight and along about 1809 he became the rotund, red-cheeked, cherry-nosed Santa of today. And his bony grey mare after being replaced by a carriage, became a sleight with eight reindeer.

THERE'S A NEW organization in town called the Credit Women's Breakfast Club.

Well, this breakfast club installed its officers the other day—at a dinner meeting.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

Having given way to a perfect frenzy of Christmas shopping lately, I have decided to make this a day of rest.

On such a day you get up and make coffee. You get the papers. Pour the coffee? Get back into bed. Such luxury.

In Halifax, England, neighbors discovered Mr. Matthew Sutcliffe sacked up and happy in the old homestead.

"WHY MATT," they said, "didn't you used to be a railroad porter who we've not seen in 30 blinkin' years, God wot," they said.

"Aye," said Mathew. For it was indeed he. He said he caught a cold 30 years ago and went to bed. He liked it so well he just never got up.

He spent all his time reading the papers and following the football pools.

Matthew had the right idea.

THE DAY YOU decide to stay in bed is the day the plumber cometh. He cometh with a long length of wire and a suction pump.

"Use your phone?" he said.

"Help yourself." The plumber sat on the edge of the bed and dialed his number.

"YOU SICK?" he said "Hey, Charlie? Charlie, looks like a root stoppage. Yep. We may have to tear up the flooring. Yep. Yep. You sick?" he said to me.

"I am resting."

"You look sick," said the plumber critically. "Just like my wife's brother. Just fell off his feed, he said. Stayed in bed for a couple of days. By the time we called the doctor it was too late.

"What was wrong with him?" I said weakly.

"TWISTED SOMETHING inside himself," said the plumber. "The doctors were inside him with everything but a pipe wrench. 'Too late,' they said finally to my sister-in-law. 'He's a goner. Best to know the truth and what's what. That drain of yours is in pretty bad shape.'"

"I don't expect any unusual demands upon the new Congress . . . I trust the good sense of the people who want nothing more than low taxes high wages, low prices, and complete security!"

EARL WILSON:

So Let Us Be Gay Now

NEW YORK—On the theory that people like to be gay this time of year, rather than gossip, I'm skipping the scandal today to tell you some of the chuckles around Broadway.

Comedienne Sue Carson of Hollywood and TV is at the Latin Quarter, much appreciated at that spot. Maybe you've seen her do her monologue about men being so smart—"They write you such nice letters and then pay you so much money to get them back." And about European men who kiss ladies' hands: "When a man kisses my hand, it makes me nervous. I always wonder if my mouth is dirty."

Myron Cohen is at the Copacabana with the Vagabonds (who were never better) and tells about a man 84 years old doing a high-diving act as star of a circus. Coming out to do his great dive, for which the customers have paid highly, he says, "Ladies and gentlemen, would you want to see an 84-year-old man dive 384 feet into a tub of water 2 feet deep?"

There are roars of "NO, NO, NO!" from the crowd. "O.K., then," he says, putting back on his robe, "the next show is at 8:30."

Sam Levenson has concocted his own list of "what to give the man who has everything" and includes in his "Care Package for the Care-free":

A gift certificate for a credit card, contact lenses for finding lost eye-glasses, eye-glasses for finding lost contact lenses, a contour-chair straightener, an X-ray picture of Brigitte Bardot, and a divorce catered by Elsa Maxwell.

When "J.B.," the play about a modern Job written by Archibald MacLeish, starring Pat Hingle, Christopher Plummer and Raymond Massey, opened here, it was pretty deep for many in the audience. Critic Gentleman George Solotarev wrote: "Although it's a well-written religious allegory it's not in a commercial category."

Benny Goodman's favorite photographer, "Popsie," was keeping Bill Williams the disc jockey, for the music publication, Cash Box. Bill, to heckle him, waited till he got the camera set up and then said: "Popsie, I'm telling you, you've got your camera too close to the studio."

MIKE CONNOLLY: Singing Rivals Don't Sing

HOLLYWOOD — Judy Garland and Peggy King, singing rivals from their old days at MGM, met head-on at Sammy Davis Jr.'s birthday party and kept dodging each other until Milton Berle broke the ice between them.

Milton emceed the "floor-show" at the party. He coaxed Peggy to "open the show." She peeked shyly at Judy and said, "I wouldn't think of it, not when a great singer like Judy Garland is here!" (Peggy, it should be explained, was signed by Metro to "keep Judy in line," just before she walked out on "Annie Get Your Gun," because they said "Peggy sings like Judy.") So the girls, although both have long since separated from their Alma Mater, have never had much in common.

TO GET BACK TO the party, Uncle Milton then coaxed Judy to sing. Judy grinned and said, "Not with Peggy King here!" So Milton settled for creamy-voiced Carmen McRae, who sang "My Funny Valentine," while Judy and Peggy sat together and made up.

Gary Crosby staggered at the Davis party. Peggy was alone. But when I left Sammy's hilltop home to salute the rising morning they were acting very much New-Twosh! Peggy previously had told me her romance with Andre Previn is all washed up: "I spent two years concentrating on his career, now I guess it's time to think of mine." And I agreed—because Andre is currently wrapped up in the biggest job of his life: scoring and conducting the Gershwin music for Sam Goldwyn's "Porgy and Bess."

FRANK SINATRA, who usually introduces his dates to newspapermen as "Ezzard Charles," just to confuse us, arrived at the Davis party with his pal Mike Romanoff. As they entered the house and surveyed the swinging scene Frankie asked, "Shall we mix, Citizen Romanoff?" Mike: "Naw, let's do the snob bit." But a few minutes later they were swinging with the rest of us peasants!

Columbia's "Lou Costello and His 30-Foot Bride" will be the first Hollywood movie to spoof the current science-fiction cycle. You'll see Lou's "bride," beautiful, five-foot-two Dorothy Provine, grow 30 feet tall right in front of your eyes, while Lou stays his own normal Mr. Five-by-Five self.

TONY CURTIS' contract with Universal provides him with top-star billing. That's why he refused to take second billing to Bob Taylor or Jeff Chandler in

When Kathy Grant—who wants to be called Katherine Grant—was on the Peter Lind Hayes TV show, Pete though he'd have some fun with her by introducing a puppet that resembled Kathy's husband (a fellow named Bing Crosby). This puppet was perched on Pete's shoulder, singing. Pete looked at Kathy expecting a big smile—but instead, she was on the verge of tears and inquired very sadly, "When does the next plane leave for California?"

It can now be told that Conrad Hilton is busily engaged in planning new hotels in London—on Park Lane two blocks from the famous Dorchester; in Paris on a site which cannot yet be disclosed; and in Rome on Mont Mario the highest part of the city with a wondrous view of the historic metropolis. The Rome Hilton would be somewhat away from the business area more in the residential district. It would probably be pronounced "the Otel Eel-ton." These new hotels would be ready sometime after January 1961.

"Some expert found out via questionnaires that today's teenagers are not interested in petting. And neither obviously are they interested in giving truthful answers to questionnaires."—Jack Harris.

Wait Framer's TV show, "The Big Payoff" is seven years old. And in a week or two the Framers are expecting their seventh child . . . Bob Hope cooked up a great big secret: a plan to take Lana Turner along as one of the stars of his TV trip to the Azores, Spain, North Africa, Naples, Germany, and Iceland. But whether it works out will be decided about the time you read this . . . Erin O'Brien landed a plum job: The "Schlitz" girl representing the beer in national exploitation. Joe E. Lewis joined Toots Shor in Hot Springs for their annual drying-out procedure.

Myrna Loy only wants to discuss the UN and her pictures—these days—and not any romances—Steve Allen the Friars' man of the year should be flattered at the big demand for tickets to the testimonial . . . Fans of Perry Como, in writing in asking for his autograph or requesting that his records be played frequently spell it, "Perry Como." (He's not that relaxed.)

"Operation Petticoat," and that's why each bowed out. But now that Cary Grant has taken the role they spurned, Curly has consented to second billing. Clue: Ever since Tony was a kid movie fan on New York's East Side, Gary Grant has been his idol—and I don't know a mimic in show-business who does a better imitation of Cary than Tony.

BARBARA STANWYCK, once an Oscar nominee (but never a winner!) as Ann Shirley's mother in "Stella Dallas," is everybody's choice to play Shirley MacLaine's mother in Metro's "Elsie Janis Story." John Saxon won't have to shave the beard he grew for his hero role in "The Big Fisherman." He leaves it on to play "Portugal," the villain of John Huston's "The Unforgiven." John's lip-brush has other uses too: it's his free pass to all the Beat Generation joints on the Sunset Strip that charge others admission!

CHANNEL CHATTER—Harpo and Chicago Marx will co-star in G. E. Theater's "Best Laid Plans," a teleplay containing only one line of dialogue during its 30-minute tongue-in-cheek takeoff on a cops-and-robbers show. I'm all for it, whether it's TV or movies: less talk, more action.

Things are looking up, way up into the Hollywood hills, for Barrie Chase, ever since her brilliant dancing spec with Fred Astaire. She just moved out of her small apartment to her own hilltop home.

BOB LOGGIA and his bride are having domestic difficulties. The old story: career trouble. The star of Walt Disney's Elfigo Baca series wants to sell the old homestead in New York and move to California; his wife doesn't want to leave her family and old friends. And her argument has some validity: How long does a series last?

It's official: Schlitz is pulling the plug on its sponsorship of Revue Productions' Schlitz Playhouse. But the brewery is planning to bankroll another Revue show, Ray Milland's Crisis series.

Bing Crosby is pulling his annual Pebble Beach Golf Tournament away from CBS-TV this year. ABC-TV gets it and for a very good reason: that's the network that got Oldsmobile to sponsor Der Gingle's two specs for this year. So Olds gets the tournament, too, and for a much fancier figure than Easy Washington Machines paid the CBS-teersmen last year.

Foreign Appointments Need Overhauling

Both political parties have appointed many trained and qualified Americans for foreign service and other key government jobs abroad. But politics take their toll with too many others. For the most part, the high posts are filled with more emphasis on political patronage than on anything else.

This is especially true with those in the supervisory level abroad . . . the men and women who implement our foreign programs and who set up the machinery on the spot. Too many of these are politically recommended with little or no consideration for speaking the language, or having the slightest idea of the culture or the ethnology of the country of their appointment.

THERE ARE NOTED exceptions . . . but for the most part these appointees lack adaptability, experience, adjustment to foreign scenery and customs, nor do they possess even a working knowledge of one of the most essential requirements of foreign service . . . language.

Russia, on the other hand, sends abroad well trained, indoctrinated and dedicated personnel. They are competent linguists. The Reds live with the people in the villages, farms, in humble and poor surroundings. The Russians rub shoulders with the workers, the poor, the average . . . while the U. S. representatives live it up with their shiny U. S. cars, luxurious accommodations, organize and build golf clubs in areas where none ever existed.

THE RUSSIAN officials organize Communist parties and work through them for political power. While we pour billions of dollars which for the most part are not evident to the rank and file, the Reds resort to leg work, organization, and constant personal contact with the masses.

They distribute a pound of rice now and then in person . . . and that personal contact packs a wallop greater than a million dollars handed over to a foreign government by Washington. The Red officials purposely make an issue of walking some distance to work . . . while the U. S. personal ride in cars for a distance of a few blocks.

THE REDS SHOP in the same markets with the natives . . . the Americans shop mostly at U. S. commissaries and pay fantastically lower prices than available elsewhere. The American families dress up their children in American clothes and send them to special schools, while the Russian dress their children with the average and send them to regular local schools.

The Reds hire no maids, while most Americans boast of having one or two at their beck and call. These are just some of the reasons we are not getting across in backward areas in competition with the Communists.

WHAT WE NEED more than anything else are dedicated Americans . . . not political prima-donnas abroad . . . who lose an election at home, but are given a foreign appointment as a consolation prize for political loyalty. We need inspired Americans who look at foreign service as a challenge to beat the Reds at their own game.

We need foreign representatives who will sacrifice their normal U. S. comforts as a part of the job. We can confine the P.X.'s and the commissaries only inside army posts and keep foreign service appointees out of them. We can prohibit our personnel from taking large motor vehicles, cars abroad with them, which tie up traffic on narrow foreign streets not designed for our long wheel base vehicles.

WE MUST REMEMBER that we are guests in a foreign country and do nothing to upset or complicate their way of life. The wives of our personnel must not introduce U. S. customs and fashions, such as wearing shorts in the market place, which is considered improper dress for a lady in public there.

Our men should soft-pedal some of their U. S. highball drinking habits, recognizing that a

Annual Pageant To Start Tonight

JOSHUA TREE — The annual "Little Town of Bethlehem" Christmas pageant opens its one-week run here at 7:30 p.m., tonight, with a large crowd expected to attend the religious festival.

Producers Carl H. O'Bryan and Vic Groves, basing their predictions on Sunday's daylong turnout for the dress rehearsal of the pageant, said that it is probably that more people will attend the event than at any time in its short history.

A MUSICAL PROGRAM will precede the actual pageant, with Rev. C. M. Maloney and a chorus singing "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte; Michael Chelette and a chorus singing "Away In a Manger," and Dorothy Sherman and Dorothy Randolph duetting on "Sleep Baby Jesus," and again on Gounod's "Ave Maria." The choir will sing seven other selections.

Cast for the pageant includes Gwen Keys, Mary, "Pinky" Hyde

Gabriel; Bob Garry, Joseph; Bryant Wilson, Inn Keeper; Rev. Harold McGee, Paul McCormick and Edward Lockhart, Shepherds; Robert Lockhart, Shepherd Boy; Lyle Robertson, Herod; Pat Garry and Virginia Wilson, Court Attendants; Cappy Maitland, Harry Wheeler and Willis Keys, Wise men, and Jim McCormick, Jr., and Don Kokx, High Priests.

THE JOSHUA TREE Choral Group is under the direction of Victor J. Groves. Lighting is operated by Bob Russell Studios of Yucca Valley, a burro is furnished by the Rhodes Ranch at Twentynine Palms, and day time sculpture is by Lois Clark of Twentynine Palms.

The two producers also indicated that they wished to thank Art's TV Shop at Twentynine Palms for the public address installation for the pageant, the U.S. Marines at Twentynine Palms for manning road blocks to aid traffic flow, E. V. and H. Lafferty for the construction of the blockades, and Rev. Harold and Lucille McGee for the printing of programs.

"Were it not," the two producers said in a joint statement, "for the cooperation of our whole community . . . and donations from friends near and far, this pageant would not be possible."

Elks to Present Annual Party For Children

Ol' St. Nick is going to take out time from his busy Christmas season schedule to be present on Sunday, Dec. 21, at the annual B.P.O. Elks Lodge 1905 Children's Christmas Party.

The local Elks are presenting the party, featuring entertainment and refreshments, and the festivities will start at 2 p.m.

Parents are asked to bring a gift with each child's name on it and Santa Claus will do the rest. On Dec. 31, the Elks will hold their New Year's Eve party which will feature dancing to Pat Barabara's orchestra and a midnight buffet.

At the party will be noise makers, hats, balloons, prizes and surprises.

The party is limited to 100 couples, and tickets may be obtained from any officer or entertainment committee member.

A travel survey by the Census Bureau indicated that America took 231 million trips of more than 100 miles during 1957, each of which lasted an average of five and a half days.

NOVENA OF OUR LADY OF GUADALUPE MARKED HERE BY TABLEAUX PRESENTED BY CHILDREN

A tableaux in which more than 20 children participated climaxed the Novena of Our Lady of Guadalupe at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church here.

Solemn high mass was celebrated in conjunction with the tableaux by Rev. Joseph Leissler, of Cathedral City, and the Revs. Daniel Leon and Thomas Flahive, of Palm Springs.

THE NARRATIVE — delivered by Pat Coleman, Martin Beck and Mrs. Peter Hall — brought forth vividly the story of the appearance of the Virgin of Guadalupe to Juan Diego, a pious Indian, on Dec. 9, 1531.

The story reveals that the priests and bishops, doubting Juan Diego's story that the Virgin of Guadalupe wished to pave a church erected on the spot where she had made her appearance, demanded some proof. The Virgin thereupon placed flowers in Juan Diego's tilma which dropped to the floor in front of the church men, imprinting the picture of the Virgin of Guadalupe on the coarse ayate floor.

THE PAINTING on the floor of the church at Guadalupe remains a major mystery in the world of art to this day. Critics and experts in the field have been unable to delineate the style of painting, nor have they been able to identify the paint used in the picture — which shows The Virgin of Guadalupe with downcast eyes, hands joined in prayer—although there has been no substantial change in the sharpness of the picture or the brightness of the colors in the picture's 400 year history.

"It has been remarked," Rev. Flahive explained, "that the face is that of an Indian girl and as the object of this apparition was to win over the Indians to the Christian religion, the Virgin appeared to Juan Diego in the semblance of a maiden of his own race."

Participating in the re-enactment of the story were Aguita Valdez, Josena Mayuga, Carmen Duran, Barbara Lozano, Priscilla Ruiz, Omar Valdez, Joan Alessandro, Carolee Betz, Anitra Ofelia de la Vara, Katey Rashall, Linda de Jesus, Josie Mediano, Blanche Ruiz, Delia Ruiz, Gwen Saubel, Virginia de la Vara, Ofel-ia Godinez, Lita Marquez and Ofelia de la Vara.

SEASON OPENER for Eldorado Polo Club was the Saturday night cocktail party which Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haas of San Francisco hosted at their cottage. They were photographed at the party with Mr. and Mrs. Will Tevis. Left to right, Mr. Haas, Mrs. Tevis, Mrs. Haas, Mr. Tevis.

Haas Home Scene of First Party

San Francisco socialites Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haas (he's with Haas, Haynie and Frandsen Construction Company) flew down to the desert to be here for the opening of the winter polo season this past weekend, and hosted a cocktail party at their cottage at Eldorado Country Club. Around thirty guests, including the Eldorado Polo Team, attended the affair which launched the Club's social season.

Among those at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hitchcock of San Francisco (he's a member of the Polo Team, and also a charter member of the Polo Club), Mr. and Mrs. Will Tevis (Will is one of the founders of the Club, is a member of the team, and also executive vice president of the Club); Ronnie Williams (one of the original members and owners of Eldorado Country Club); Mr. and Mrs. Todd Helser of San Francisco (he's a member of the Polo Team); Mr. and Mrs. Morrie Morrison of Mecca (he's president of the Salton Sea Polo Club, a member of the Eldorado Polo Team, and one of its charter members); Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hines, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Dawson (both Jimmy and Johnny are among the original members, and owners of the Eldorado Country Club), and many more.

Most of the party guests were to be found on the polo field the following day to watch the opening polo match. During the winter there will be a polo match at Eldorado Fields every Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Toastmasters To Talk About Christmas Topic

With Christmas just a week away, Toastmasters Club will devote tonight's program, the last regular meeting of 1958, to the Christmas theme.

Five speakers are prepared to explore various phases of the Yuletide. Some of the subjects will be "The Commercialized Christmas," "Traffic Problems in Palm Springs at Christmas Time," "Is There a Santa Claus?" and "Christmas Thru the Ages." Speakers will be Nick Maff and Bob Davis of the Palm Springs Police Department; Bob Cordes of Cordes Flore Coverings of Cathedral City; Brad Davis, Principal of Cahulla School; and Warner Moon, of the Cathedral City Public Library.

Table Topics, one - and - a-half minute impromptu speeches participated in by all other members, will be conducted by Dean Gilchrist of Thunderbird Country Club, with the general topic as "Christmas."

The meeting will be held tonight at Laurys's Steak Ranch at 6:45 p.m. All those interested in Toastmasters are cordially invited to attend.

THE POLO SEASON opened officially on Sunday and among the on-lookers who perched on their Cadillacs and T-Birds to watch horses and men chase the little white pellet, were Mr. and Mrs. George Dulany of LaJolla and Thunderbird, and Mrs. Robert Morrey, right, of Palm Desert.

Desert Sun School
Hosts Chuckwagon

Friends, graduates, campers, counselors, and faculty of Desert Sun School in Idyllwild held their annual Alumni party in Palm Springs at the base of Mount San Jacinto — in a setting appropriate to Riverside County's well-known co-educational independent school, a gathering of some fifty people from various parts of California partook of an excellent chuckwagon supper furnished by Johnny Boyle, and then gathered around the huge fire for an evening of songs and visiting.

Johnny Boyle, well-known to patrons of the famous Desert Inn and Smoke Tree Ranch for twenty years, delighted the Desert Sun group with his cowboy ballads, spirituals, calypsoes, and Hawaiian songs. Mrs. Boyle (Tani) and their daughter Linda, joined Johnny in many beautiful songs and were especially delightful in their Hawaiian hula interpretations.

Alex and Wynne Hammond, sponsors for the party, entertained their guests in their Palm Springs home after the dinner and singing. Riverside County residents at the party included Mrs. Donald E. Jayne and son, Peter,

Two Hundred in Attendance for Escorts' Night

Escorts' Night at the Palm Springs Woman's Club Monday night brought out over two hundred members, husbands and friends.

The president, Mrs. Herbert Burns, welcomed the guests and thanked the husbands for their help in the recent scholarship fund raising event, the Christmas Carrousel. Program chairman Mrs. Lillian Sebelius presented the Song Brokers, a quartette of musicians who are currently popular individually in radio, television, musical comedy and night clubs. The festive evening had a touch of Christmas in the air as the closing songs of the entertainers were carols and Mrs. George Smith, the hostess of the evening, had devised some very clever holiday decorations.

Mrs. Smith had as co-hostesses: Mmes. George Derbes, M. L. Marti, Walter Whittall, Charles Netherby, Fred Morrison, L. C. Lewis, Jack Frost. Mrs. Glen Watson and Mrs. Val Blatz presided at the tea table.

Valdes to Lay Claim To Title If

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Nino Valdes, billing himself as the unofficial heavyweight champion of the world because of the way Floyd Patterson has been shooting fish in a barrel, said today he would claim the title if he disposes of Tacoma's Pat McMurry tomorrow night.

"Patterson is afraid to fight me," the Cuban giant says flatly. "Considering his opponents he is no more than the amateur heavyweight champion of the world. I am the professional champion."

Nino has a fairly valid claim if you really examine the record. He is the number two ranking heavyweight behind Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. And the Swede actually leaped into the forefront on one victory, a conquest of Eddie Machen which had slight smorgasbord overtones.

NINO LONG HAS had a reputation of losing the big ones. In 1956 as he was surging to the top, he dropped a pair to Eddie Machen and fell before Zora Folley. Since then he has won 11 of 12 bouts, including five in a row with victories over Wayne Bethea, Johnny Summerlin, Harold Carter and Mike DeJohn twice.

There is a suspicion here that despite all the knocks against the talent of Patterson's foes, the heavyweight champion is the best in the world. The shame is that he isn't allowed to prove it and is sent against such setups as Pete Rademacher, "Zephyr" Jackson and built up Roy Harris. The theory in his camp is that, if he was involved in a close bout with an International Boxing Club "house" fighter, he might get the short end of a decision through mathematical skulduggery.

THUS IT IS THAT Patterson, who has the talents to stand with the great champions, is pitted against humpty - dumpty and the legitimate challengers get the go-by.

So Valdes is going to claim the crown—if he gets past McMurry. And this will take some doing in a scrap where the 6-foot, 3-inch Nino is no better than a 6 - 5 choice. For McMurry, eight years younger at 26, is a fine fighter with 30 wins in 33 starts and 23 knockouts to his credit. Nino has flattened 33 in winning 46 of 63 bouts.

At least it shapes up as a scrap which is more than you can say for Patterson's patty-cake parties. And if McMurry wins, why shouldn't he claim the title? After all, he, too, has been fighting legitimate professionals.

Tamarisk Club Women Golfers Stage 2 Events

Two events were held this week on Tamarisk Country Club golf course by the club's Women's Auxiliary, the regular weekly event and a special Christmas tournament.

In the Tin Whistle event, Venice Hanson and Virginia Parker tied with 36 points in the first flight. Lillian Corman had 35 points, Alice Heffernan and Verna Cate tied with 34 points.

JAKE, the winningest Weimaraner in the country, won all over the nation, Jake, which is short for Ludwig von Weisenhof, his real name, will retire from competition this year, unbeaten.

Jake, Villagers' Weimar, Champ Of Breed In U.S.

Ludwig von Weisenhof, more familiarly known in kennel circles as "Jake," is contemplating retirement after cleaning up championships in Field Trials all over the country.

Jake is a Weimaraner dog, the property of Dr. and Mrs. James B. Oliver who recently returned with him from the northwest where he won in field trials in every event entered.

THE PALM SPRINGS dog is the best known Weimar in the country and in the past four years has won 40 events in all parts of the nation.

He won the eastern championship in 1955, the western championship in 1956 and the top event, the National German Pointing Dog championship in the fall of 1956.

Last year he won many western trials and the Mid-American classic. He was on the Sports and Field All-American team in 1956 and 1957. Dr. Oliver holds the permanent Oregon All - Age trophy, Jake having won it three years in a row.

HE WON THE Oregon Open twice this year, the Washington Open and the Utah Open.

He is the only Weimaraner in the country holding four field championships under both American Field and American Kennel Club rules.

He closed his 1958 season the other day winning the Vista National Trials at Corvallis, Oregon, and the Open Gun Dog event at Eugene, Oregon.

Dr. Oliver plans to make this Jake's last year of campaigning and let him retire on his laurels as the winningest Weimaraner yet to appear in the field.

Undeclared Troy Off for Midwest

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Southern California Trojans, fresh from a double victory over Hawaii, left from International Airport today for a three-game basketball tour through the Midwest.

The Trojans, undefeated so far this year, scored an easy 72 - 42 win over Hawaii Wednesday night.

The Trojans during their five-day swing through the Midwest will play Oklahoma Friday, Wichita Saturday and Oklahoma State Monday.

Dodgers Give Way To Shrine Festival

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers have announced two schedule changes of home games to allow the annual Shrine convention use of the Memorial Coliseum.

E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger general manager said games slated for Aug. 6 and 7 would be rescheduled so the Shriners could hold their annual activities at the Coliseum as in the past.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Billy Casper Jr., of Chula Vista, Calif., has entered the 33rd annual $40,000 Los Angeles Open, beginning Dec. 31.

RICH GET RICHER ALSO TRUE IN NFL

Giants, Browns Prepare to Split Big Bundle of Greenbacks After Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The old saying that the "rich get richer" also holds true for the National Football League.

The Cleveland Browns and New York Giants, the "moneybags" clubs of the Eastern Division, will divide another bundle of greenbacks Sunday when they play for the division title at Yankee Stadium.

A crowd of about 70,000, plus television and radio fees will assure a bonanza of about a quarter of a million dollars for the owners and players.

In a division playoff game, the two clubs split the net receipts and each player gets an additional one-twelfth of his salary the teams play 12 regular season games.

This will average about $1,000 per player. The quarterbacks and other stars such as fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland will get more.

of course, following the same "rich get richer" pattern. Most of the guards and tackles, who decide the game with their play in the line, probably will get less than $1,000 apiece.

But none of the players will need pep-talks before Sunday's game.

The winners will move into the league championship game opposite the Baltimore Colts Dec. 28. That's the game in which the players slice up the net receipts.

With the title game to be played in Yankee Stadium or Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, the gross receipts easily could top the record $593,967.50 set by the Browns and Lions at Detroit last year.

That means the individual winners in the championship game may collect about $5,000 and the losers about $3,000. Those fat title game cuts will inspire the players Sunday.

CUT IN LIMIT ON TROUT COMING, WARNS STATE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Department of Fish and Game has warned that "the day is not far off" when California will be forced to cut its 15 - fish bag limit on trout.

The department Wednesday recommended that the limit be retained at its present level for the time being but issued the warning in what might be a preliminary move for cuts which will come later.

The Booz, Allen and Hamilton report on fish and game operations recommended an immediate reduction of the bag limit on trout from 15 to 10 with an eventual cut to five fish.

The trout idea topped a list of suggested fishing regulations which the department presented to the Fish and Game Commission. Usually the commission adopts the department's suggestions with little or no change.

Also recommended was the retention of the present five fish limit for wintertime trout fishing.

In an effort to give land-locked abalone fishermen an even break with skindivers, the department recommended that the sport take of abalone north of Point Arguello be limited to days when minus tides occur.

Department spokesmen said the rule, if adopted, would prevent skindivers from getting the best abalone by keeping them away from the fish on days when tides prevent shore pickers from reaching the beds.

Lane Would Like To Have Berra

HAVANA (UPI) — Frank Lane, the Cleveland Indians' fast-talking general manager, today revealed he would like to pry third baseman Hector Lopez loose from the Chicago White Sox to round out the Indians' infield.

Lane also said he is interested in Yogi Berra "if the Yankees don't want him any more."

Iowa Gets Right to Work

Hawkeyes Wasting No Time

PASADENA (UPI) — The Hawkeyes of Iowa, anxious to make up for practice time lost at home due to weather conditions, today were sent to work by Coach Forest Evashevski as quickly as possible following their welcome by the home city of the Rose Bowl game.

"We have to start from scratch," Evashevski said as he herded the Iowa football team to the East Los Angeles Junior College practice field for the first workout.

The Iowans left Iowa City in 11 - degree weather and landed Wednesday at nearby Burbank with the temperature at 82 degrees. Whisked to its hotel, the club received a welcome as warm as the weather.

ROSE QUEEN Pamela Elaine Prather and her court of princesses greeted the invading Iowans and presented each with a California orange as Evashevski introduced his players.

Evashevski paid tribute to the "warm friendship" he and his players experienced two years ago and said the recollections still were vivid to him.

But Evashevski said the Iowa team was here to prepare for its engagement with California in the Rose Bowl and not to bask in the sunshine.

"We have a lot of work ahead," Evashevski warned his players, including end Curt Kertz who missed the Notre Dame game because of a knee injury, all were in good physical condition but needed plenty of work.

HE LINED UP a schedule of two-day practice sessions for the immediate future until he is satisfied the club was back in regular season playing condition.

Asked to comment on California, Evashevski said he had to classify the Golden Bears as different from any team Iowa met this year.

"And those odds making us 18 point favorites are ridiculous," he snapped. "Just look at the scores run up against us and you realize how silly the odds become."

Only trouble is, he was playing the fifth hole at the time.

His tee shot on number five struck a tree, bounced back across the fairway, rolled up a rise and through a startled four-some putting on the fourth green, and dropped into the hole.

Olmeda Named to Davis Cup Team

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — Perry Jones, non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup team, chose Alex Olmedo as his No. 2 singles player today for this weekend's inter-zone final against Italy.

Perry decided to string along with Olmedo instead of Barry Mackay, who impressed Aussie fans last year by whipping Ashley Cooper of Australia in the challenge round.

Olmedo and Mackay had been battling for the No. 2 spot in singles after Perry had designated Ham Richardson of Arlington, Va. as his No. 1 singles player.

Perry made his long-awaited selection today only hours before the draw was made for the opening singles matches.

In the draw, Olmedo drew lanky Nikola Pietrangeli as his opening opponent. Richardson, the former Rhodes scholar, will play Orlando Sirola in Friday's other singles match.

In Saturday's doubles match of the best-of-five series, Richardson and Olmedo will play Pietrangeli and Sirola. The pairings for the opening singles matches will be reversed for Sunday's final matches.

The winner of the inter-zone final will play Australia in the challenge round.

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who made a mistake and married the wrong man. I lived with him for two years and tried to make a go of it, but it was no use. There is this guy who has been after me for years. He always liked me but I thought he was too old for me. Now I am 23 and he is 44 and he doesn't seem too old for me. He wants to pay for my divorce. He has wanted to marry for a long time (even before my marriage) but I always thought of him as a brother, not a lover. Should I let him pay for my divorce even though I don't care for him? He says he expects nothing from me in return.

ELLIE

DEAR ELLIE: I hate to spoil your Christmas Honey, but there ain't no Santa Claus. Refuse his "generous" offer.

DEAR ABBY: The man who boasts that he buys only one suit a year while his wife had "thirty dresses hanging in her closet" caused me to write this. Too many women dress beautifully while their husbands go around in shiny, out-dated suits. (Those wide lapels have been "out" for years, but you still see many so-called successful business men wearing them.) I blame the woman. If she weren't so selfish, she'd see to it that her husband dressed as nicely as she did. When I see a beautifully-dressed woman with a poorly-dressed husband, I don't admire either of them. She shouldn't put everything he makes on her back, and he shouldn't let her.

"OUTSPOKEN JOAN"

"DEAR OUT: And spoken like a sensible woman."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MISERABLE": For goodness sake, tell your parents you've changed your mind and return his ring! A broken engagement will heal a lot faster than a broken heart.

GOURMET PILLAR

By LORNE CORSAUT

Here is a Christmas dinner that is different, but excellent. It was prepared entirely by the members, themselves, of the Wine and Food Society of Los Angeles.

Assorted Canapes both hot and cold, Onion Soup, Monterey Prawns, Long Island Duckling with Pate de Foix Gras and wild rice, Stuffed Artichoke Bottoms, Mixed Green Salad, Assorted Cheese Board, Crepes Suzette, Espresso Coffee.

The wines served with the above in their proper order were: La Ina Sherry, Piesporter, '49, Clos de Vougeot, '43, Chateau Ausone, '47, Kirshwasser.

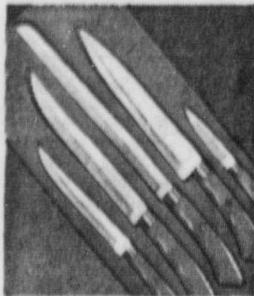

The Society appoints one member to be in charge of each course and with no outside help, but he can have another member assist. I was fortunate enough to win a Gordon Bleu, for the best single dish of the year, with my Prawns and special sauce.

We carry a very fine line of frozen Hors D'Oeuvres, also Caviar, Pate de Foix Gras. Also a very interesting new mix called Gourmet's Mix a Dip.

Different wines may be substituted for the ones we served but it would be well to use only those that are similar.

Everything for the above dinner is available at Sole's Markets. We have the most complete line of wines, liquors and liqueurs in this area, and some beautiful Christmas wrappings.
